Fund Description

Thrivent Government Bond Fund invests primarily in U.S. government bonds, which may include debt instruments issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government and its agencies or instrumentalities. This includes U.S. Treasuries, Treasury Inflation Protected Securities (TIPS), U.S. Government Agency debt, and mortgage-backed securities that are issued or guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association (GNMA), the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA) or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (FHLMC). The Fund may hold securities of any maturity, but under normal market conditions, the Fund's duration will be targeted to approximately five years. Government bonds have a low correlation to equities and may outperform stocks and corporate bonds when the market is declining and investors tend to become more risk averse. As a result, an allocation to government bonds may help diversify an investor's overall portfolio.

Investment Strategy/Process

The portfolio management team uses fundamental, quantitative and technical investment research techniques to determine which debt obligations to buy and sell. The portfolio manager is responsible for portfolio construction and risk management, and uses duration and yield curve management strategies in an effort to increase total return potential and manage risk.

Risks: The Fund primarily invests in securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government or its agencies and instrumentalities. The value of the Fund is influenced by factors impacting the overall market, debt securities in particular, and the U.S. government. The Fund may incur losses due to investments that do not perform as anticipated by the investment adviser. The value of U.S. government securities may be affected by changes in the credit rating of the U.S. government. Certain U.S. government securities are not backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government. Bond prices may decline during periods of rising interest rates. Inflation-linked debt securities, such as TIPS, are subject to the effects of changes in market interest rates caused by factors other than inflation (real interest rates). The value of mortgage-related and other asset-backed securities will be influenced by the factors affecting the housing market and the assets underlying such securities. In periods when dealer inventories of bonds are low in relation to market size, there is the potential for decreased liquidity and increased price volatility in the fixed income markets. The Fund may engage in active and frequent trading of portfolio securities in implementing its principal investment strategies, which may result in higher transaction costs and higher taxes.
