

Thrivent Multidimensional Income Fund

Ticker TMLDX (Class S)
Inception Feb. 28, 2017
Objective Thrivent Multidimensional Income Fund seeks a high level of current income and, secondarily, growth of capital.

Fund key points

Thrivent Multidimensional Income Fund is highly diversified across income-producing securities and may provide increased yield and diversification to a core bond portfolio.

Diversified and tactical

This Fund has the majority of its assets invested in securities that may produce a high level of income. The portfolio managers make tactical adjustments as market conditions change. The Fund is expected to have a lower correlation to traditional fixed-income securities such as corporates or government bonds, but will also have higher risk.

Seeks high income

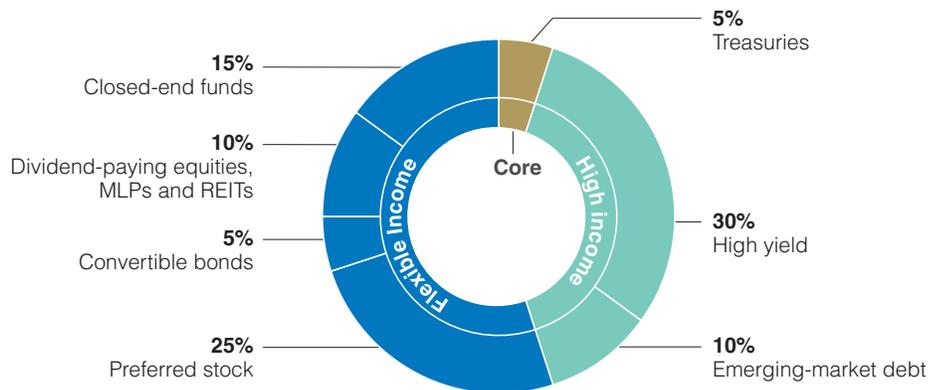

A large segment of the Fund is allocated to “plus” sectors that have traditionally produced high levels of income. The Fund also invests opportunistically in nontraditional asset classes that the managers believe will produce a high level of income and growth. At the core is a small allocation to traditional fixed-income securities to help reduce volatility.

A tested team

The Fund is managed in a style similar to other Thrivent mutual funds, including the series of Thrivent Income Plus Funds. The team makes tactical allocations based on valuations and yields, while sector analysts are responsible for thoroughly researching securities and finding new opportunities.

Risks: Debt securities are subject to risks such as declining prices during periods of rising interest rates and credit risk, or the risk that an issuer may not pay its debt. High yield securities are subject to increased credit risk as well as liquidity risk. Closed-end funds, ETFs, preferred securities, convertible securities, sovereign debt, and mortgage-related and other asset-backed securities are subject to additional risks. The Adviser is also subject to actual or potential conflicts of interest. The use of derivatives (such as futures) also involves risks. Foreign investments involve additional risks, such as currency fluctuations and political, economic and market instability, which may be magnified for investments in emerging markets. U.S. government securities may not be fully guaranteed by the U.S. government and issues may not have the funds to meet their payment obligations. The value of U.S. government securities may be affected by changes in credit ratings, which may be negatively impacted by rising national debt. The Adviser's assessment of investments may prove incorrect, resulting in losses or poor performance. The Fund's value is influenced by the performance of the broader market and by factors specific to an issuer within the Fund. When bond inventories are low in relation to the market size, there is the potential for decreased liquidity and increased price volatility. The Fund invests in other funds; therefore, the Fund is dependent upon the performance of the other funds and is subject to the risks, additional fees and expenses of the other funds. These and other risks are described in the prospectus.

- Preferred stock – Represented by S&P U.S. Preferred Stock Index, which represents the U.S. preferred stock market. Preferred stocks pay dividends at a specified rate and have preference over common stock in the payment of dividends and the liquidation of assets.
- REITs (real estate investment trusts) – Represented by United States REIT Index, which measures the investable universe of publicly traded real estate investment trusts domiciled in the United States.
- Treasuries – Represented by Bloomberg U.S. Treasury Index, which measures the performance of the public debt obligations of the U.S. Treasury with remaining maturities of one year or more.
